Short paragraph about the importance of networking as a developing professional in your chosen field of study:

Networking is extremely important for me as a student in computer technology because those older than me have had more experience and are able to guide me with their own experiences. Computer technology is an expanding field with many opportunities but many (including myself) don't know where to start when looking for internships, jobs, community service regarding computer technology, work experience, etc. So by having mentors and connecting with others it allows us to open more doors of opportunity.
